

ALTOZANO

Altozano Verdejo Sauvignon Blanc 2008
Vino de la Tierra de Castilla

Altozano

Gonzalez Byass created the award-winning Altozano range to provide excellent value, consistent quality wines made in an easy drinking, fruit-driven style. The wines, which come under the Vino de la Tierra classification, were produced in conjunction with Jane Masters MW.

The Altozano range is available in both cork and screwcap bottle with clear varietal labelling.

Viticulture

The Altozano winery is situated in a 230 Hectare property in Otero, Toledo. The vineyards lie at 480 meters above sea level and are located between the Tajo and the Alberche rivers and the Gredos and Toledo mountain ranges.

The undulating terrain contains a variety of soil, which ranges from moderately acidic to extremely alkaline and from slightly chalky to very chalky. Such a variation in soil can at times complicate the management of vines, yet it also allows the winemaker to create a unique blend. The climate is extreme and dry, with great variation in temperature between seasons.

The vines include both indigenous and international varieties: Tempranillo, Cabernet Sauvignon, Shiraz, Cabernet Franc, Petit Verdot, Graciano, Garnacha, Sauvignon Blanc and Verdejo.

Vinification

The grapes are cold macerated prior to pressing to extract the maximum fruit character. Fermentation takes place in stainless steel tanks with controlled temperature. Batonnage is carried out at regular intervals.

Technical Information

Varietals: Verdejo 70% Sauvignon Blanc 30%

Alcohol: 12%

pH: 3,2

Volatile acidity: 0,2 gr/l

Total acidity: 5.1 gr/l

Total sugars: 2.9 gr/l

Tasting Note & Food Matching

Clean and bright. Straw like yellow colour with green tones. Intense and delicate tropical fruit and floral aromas combined with hints of anise. Crisp, fresh well balanced wine with velvety structure and persistent aftertaste.

Serve between 6-8°. Can be enjoyed on its own or perfectly matched rice, fish and seafood.

Further Information

Gonzalez Byass
C/ Manuel M. Gonzalez 12
11403 Jerez
SPAIN
Tel. +34 956 357000
Fax. +34 956357044
Email: interna@gonzalezbyass.es
www.gonzalezbyass.com

Gonzalez Byass
FINE WINE AND ESTATES SINCE 1835